Wash, as he was known, was listed as 4 years old when the 1920 Marion County census was taken, living with his parents and siblings in Battle Creek.

When the 1930 census was taken, his father had died and he was living with his mother and siblings in Birdwell Cove--now Hargis Cove--at the age of 14.

According to his sister-in-law--she was a double sister-in-law for she was a sister of his wife and the wife of his brother, John--Sarah Coffelt Birdwell, Wash was not good to his wife, Caleb. She related how at one time Wash pulled hair from a dog and stuffed the hairs into Caleb's mouth. Evidently his mother, Tennie, only laughed over this. When Caleb became ill with a bad sore on her hip, Wash refused to take her to a doctor. Sarah got a law officer to go with her to get her sister Caleb away from Wash and to the doctor, but it was too late. Gangrene had already set up and Caleb died at Erlanger Hospital in Chattanooga.

In the 1920 census, Helen was living with her parents and siblings in Grundy County at Gruetli. Helen was listed as 14 years old.

Hargis saying "Dear Sir: Do you remember back in December 1922 or 23 you married Lee Brown. Did you return the license. We can't find them any where. Can you make an affidavit to the ceremony. Lee has to have a marriage certificate so he can get his job. Inclose (sic) find affidavit filled out you go to a notary public and swear to it because we cannot find where you returned the license. Yours very Truly, Lee Griswold."

D.F. Hargis wrote on the bottom of the above letter from Leighton, Alabama "Mr. Lee Griswold, Dear Sir. On the occasion of the marriage of above named parties you could see Mary Ann Hargis & J.G. Hargis the grandfather of the Lee Brown's wife. They were witness of the marriage. I returned the license promptly to the County Court Clerk at the time of the marriage. Yours Truly DF Hargis"

Thelma cooked lunch at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School in Gruetli for many years. This was very convenient for her for she and Lee lived across the road.

Thelma's SS# was 411-72-2614 and the SSDI list her last residence as Tracy City. This is correct for when Thelma became unable to live alone after the death of Lee, she lived with a Dykes lady who kept 3 or 4 elderly ladies in her home and faithfully cared for them.

Thelma's obit reads: "Thelma Troxler Hargis, age 92, of Gruetli-Laager, passed away in a Sewanee Health Care Facility on Friday, April 2, 1999. Mrs. Hargis was a member of the Gruetli-Laager Church of Christ and was preceded in death by her husband, Lee Hargis. Notes for Shelia Renee Singleton:

"The Chattanooga Times" carried the following article. "MARION WOMAN FOUND DEAD--Marion County investigators want to know what killed a 33-year-old Tracy City woman whose body was found in a ditch Wednesday morning 150 feet away from her car near Brown Hollow Road. The car apparently had left the roadway, traveled down an embankment and grazed a tree. But Sheriff Jim Webb says the body of Shelia Renee Pellam was marked only by scratches. And the car keys were in her purse. "The accident was not that severe enough to cause death.' Webb said. 'And she or someone opened the car door to get her out and 150 feet from the car. The keys to the car were in her purse. She had some scratches on her face and arms. Those could have been from briars that were there. And there were no scuff or skid marks on the street.' The sheriff said the woman's husband, 40-year-old Joseph Pellam, told investigators his wife left home about 9:45 Tuesday night to go to the grocery store, but didn't return. When he went looking for her Wednesday morning about 11, he found the car and then her body. The scene was about a mile away from the couple's home, in a curve on a downgrade. Webb said interviews revealed that other local people had seen the car about 6 a.m., but had not been able to see the body so they didn't report the vehicle off the road. The sheriff confirmed that investigators also were told that the couple had a fight Tuesday night. Webb said the husband denied that and told investigators that his wife left to go to the store. Webb said the vehicle appeared to have been traveling back home from the direction of the store, but there were no groceries in the car. Mrs. Pellam's body was sent to the state toxicology lab in Nashville, Investigators expect to get a medical examiners's report sometime today. Webb said Mrs. Pellam also is survived by two children, ages 13 and 8, from a previous marriage."
