Foreward

The compilation of this book has been an enjoyable task and an exasperating one as well. All in all, I have gained a good deal of interesting experience and am now able to derive much pleasure from seeing the finished project. I have long felt that the history of the Grundy county area has been much neglected and I am pleased to present my own contribution to the memory of its settlers. I have worked many long hours in the attempt to make this book complete and accurate, but I am sure there are some errors and omissions. For these I apologize.

I cannot refrain from saying what a great shame I feel for the current generation which has allowed its obsession with progress and material gain to overpower any sense of common decency and respect for the memory of the dead. The many tombstones which have been plowed under or broken by cattle or lost among strip mines were once important purchases and sacred monuments, this should not be forgotten.

I owe thanks to some very special people who have aided and encouraged me in this endeavor. My parents, Andrew and Tomye (Henson) Sherrill were instrumental in the early stages of the project. My grandmother, Willie Mae (Willis) Henson has been a great help and companion on many long hot days in the cemeteries. My grandfather, Thomas Oscar Henson added so much with his stories about Grundy County and her people which served to keep my interest alive. My dear friend Jean Mason has been invaluable in helping me to pull all of this together in the final tiring stages of indexing and typing. Many thanks to all of you and to the kind people of the county who were generous with their time and directions.
"You can't miss it!"

In the process of my research I have obtained data on many Grundy county families, especially those in the Pelham Valley area. I would welcome any correspondence along these lines.

MORTON CHURCH CEMETERY

A plaque on the church building reads as follows:

Morton Memorial M. E. Church, Farlton
 I enlisted with the Lord Oct 22 1888 this house never to be removed sold or transfered to any other denomination or used for any other purpose, only for the M.E. Church or the cause of Christ. H. J. Morton Dec 1947.

TRACY CITY CEMETERY

Because of the size and complex layout of this cemetery it was necessary to comb it for tombstones several times, thus loosing some of the continuity and allowing graves which were next to each other to be separated in this copy in some instances.

MCGEE CEMETERY

Located at the rock structure at Sunset Rock near Monteagle, Tenn. and behind the Monteagle Assembly Grounds, this small graveyard is near the home of one Mrs. Wakeland. There are no tombstones, but a McGee family of 3 or 4 is reported to have been buried there.

HENLEY CEMETERY

Located near Providence on the old Sam Henley homeplace, later home of his son Claude C. Henley. Near new interstate I-24. Only one large tombstone, which has fallen over and is therefore unreadable. Marks the graves of Jane Caldwell, wife of Sam Henley, and her young daughter. Jane died circa 1905.

KING CEMETERY

148A

Located about $\frac{1}{2}$ mile east of Hwy. 56 at the foot of the mountain between Beersheba Springs and Tarlton, this is a very well kept cemetery with about 35 graves marked only with fieldstones, plus the following:
